Another fine day on the Gower. The weather was bright but breezy when I started putting out the controls but by the time I was finishing off putting out the yellow I could feel the first spot of rain and there was an angry pall over Rhossili down. Once safely back in the car the heavens opened. Luckily by the time people started their runs it had stopped. It was the first time I'd used the SI kit and found it to be simple and straightforward. Thanks must go to Roger for taking me through it and also helping with the check station and recording start times. On the other hand apologies for forgetting the control descriptions and also for not having pre-printed maps but I don't have this facility.

A big thank you too to Dave and Ben Mitchell and Phil and Sarah Jenkins and Seren for collecting in controls on a cold evening. Nice to have everything completed by 8pm.
